WORTHMORE SOFTWARE ANNOUNCES RELEASE OF CASEWORTH VERSION 2.0

Legal Software Provider Ships New Edition of Financial Case Management Software for Personal Injury Law Firms

January 18, 2008 – Fayetteville, AR...Arkansas-based WorthMORE Software today announced the release of CaseWORTH™ Version 2.0, the second edition of their flagship software which allows personal injury, medical malpractice, social security and worker's compensation attorneys to efficiently manage the financial data aspects of their cases.

Personal injury matters require lawyers and paralegals to manage and track enormous quantities of financial information such as medical bills, medical records, provider and insurance payment information, as well as client's lost personal expenses (i.e. lost income and potential earnings.) For every settlement meeting, the paralegal has to gather bills, numbers and create summaries, which is a cumbersome process when done manually. This manual work must be performed again each time new case information becomes available.

CaseWORTH allows legal teams to easily enter, organize and track their personal injury case information. Changes from new case information are immediately reflected on all summaries and reports. CaseWORTH has built-in calculators and reports to analyze the potential of the case, and aid in negotiating for a settlement advantageous to the client. CaseWORTH even prints a Settlement Statement ready for the client to sign.

CaseWORTH 2.0 includes several new features including document management of scanned medical records as well as medical bills, and the ability to attach those records to specific service dates. Version 2.0 also allows users to print a Medical Treatment Timeline report, enter medical treatment notes, and easily create complicated reports that are useful in court and communication with opposing counsel, such as Sanitized Treatment and Medical Treatment Summary reports.

Highlights of CaseWORTH 2.0 New Features:

- Document management of scanned medical records, including ability to copy or move scanned files into a portable CaseWORTH file. This puts the financial details and supporting documentation at the attorney's fingertips in depositions, mediations, negotiations and at trial.

- Ability to attach scanned medical records to service dates
- Sanitized Treatment Summary report, which is scrubbed of confidential data and can be shared with opposing counsel or at court
- Medical Treatment Timeline report which details the client's medical treatment history
- Four new Notes dialogs for tracking Medical Treatment: Sanitized Medical Treatment Notes, Attorney Notes, Staff Notes and Expert/Nurse Practitioner Notes
- Automatic timed saves to prevent data loss
- Multiple version retention – keep 10 or more previous versions as backup

Pricing

CaseWORTH is priced by annual subscription rate of $200 per year, which entitles the customer to 2 PC licenses of the product. Additional PC licenses can be added for $90/year each. These rates include all upgrades and service fixes as they become available, as well as 1 hour of telephone technical support per license.

Technical Specifications and Integrations

CaseWORTH can run either standalone from the desktop or on a network. The product integrates with Microsoft Office Word and Excel products (up to Office 2007) and runs on Microsoft Windows (98 through Vista). The product is capable of integrating with several case management systems and document management systems with minor configuration.

About WorthMORE Software and CaseWORTH

WorthMORE Software was founded in 2003 as a subsidiary of GrayLint Enterprises which was incorporated by Robert Gray and Scot Linton in 1997. In their work as legal technology consultants, Gray and Linton recognized a gap in what personal injury practice management software provided: the ability to do the financial calculations, projections and reporting that are required for personal injury cases. They started WorthMORE Software where they specifically designed CaseWORTH to assist personal injury attorneys during their cases. WorthMORE released CaseWORTH Version 1.0 in March 2006 and its built-in Personal Injury Settlement Calendar option quickly became one of the product's major selling points. The product is currently installed in many law firms throughout the United States. For more information, visit www.caseworth.com or call (479) 587-8132.
